Group & Corporate Sales Catalog
Fall/Winter 2025

Stio was founded in 2011 in Jackson, Wyoming by longtime locals living the mountain life. We are skiers, bikers, climbers, hikers, anglers, and paddlers. Time spent outside on trails, in rivers and on summits inspires everything we create. Designed, developed and tested at the base of the Tetons, Stio was founded to create premium, technical apparel for mountain athletes so we can all do more of what we love.

Environ® Jacket | $479

The ultimate in all-mountain versatility, the award-winning Environ is your partner for high-speed groomers, hikes to sidecountry summits and floating through waist deep powder. The Environ is constructed with PeakProof™, a 3-layer fabric made with 100% recycled polyester that offers waterproof/breathable protection. This storm-ready technical jacket features a removable, helmet-compatible hood with a laminated brim. Pit zips offer custom climate control when booting or skinning, a built-in powder skirt keeps you dry, and interior/ exterior pockets store on-mountain essentials.

Doublecharge® Insulated Jacket | $469

Storm cycle after storm cycle, tram lap after tram lap, fresh tracks and hidden stashes—some winters feel endless in all the best ways. For the hard-charging type who doesn't like to miss a minute, Doublecharge is built to keep you warm and dry from bell to bell. This deep-day essential fuses the protection of GORE-TEX 2L ePE Technology and PrimaLoft® Silver Eco insulation for lightweight, low-bulk warmth. Easily pull the helmet-compatible hood up and over on chilly chairlift rides and stash your essentials in the covered, zippered chest pocket for a full day of riding in the coldest conditions.

Fernos® Insulated Hooded Jacket | $299

Frigid air and frosty mornings are just another part of your winter fitness routine when you pull on the Fernos Insulated Jacket. Arm yourself against the elements with Relance™ Primeflex™, a 50 denier microfiber mechanical stretch outer that's as hard working as it soft to the touch. Lofty PeakFill™ Active Insulation traps in warmth without sacrificing breathability. The fitted silhouette stuffs easily into a pack, layers comfortably under your favorite shell, and warms just fine on its own. Stash your mountain essentials in the zippered hand pockets, pull on the hood when the wind kicks up and hit the trail.

Fernos® Insulated Vest | $199

Winter cardio of all stripes is part of the game for our warm, breathable and uber-aerobic Fernos Vest. The key to its core-warming performance is 40-gram PeakFill™ Active Insulation, a highly breathable, quick recovery, spiral filament synthetic fill. Easily compressible into small spaces like a ski pack or running vest, it lofts back promptly when called on for treeline, ridgeline or rest-break warmth. Mechanical stretch and side-seamless construction enhance mobility and reduce layering friction. A single zip chest pocket secures a wallet and keys, while a rear drop tail and reverse coil YKK® zipper complete the fast, streamlined aesthetic.

Pinion® Down Hooded Jacket | $299

Around town or in the backcountry, this hooded jacket will stick with you in all seasons due to its lightweight packability and layerable warmth. HyperDRY™ 800-fill down delivers trusty warmth for minimal weight that layers easily under a shell or rolls comfortably on its own. A high-collar, halo-adjust storm hood enables clear peripheral vision, while the 100% recycled Pertex® Quantum ripstop exterior sheds moisture with an 80/20 DWR finish and a semi-gloss surface texture. Flat-front hem adjustment and an internal stow pocket streamline it for work or play.

Pinion® Down Sweater | $269

Unexpected chills can strike as easily on the bike ride to the pub as in the mountains, and the lightweight Pinion Down Sweater prepares you for both. A wearable year-round insulator with sleek, modern style, the Pinion features a 100% recycled, lightweight and abrasion-resistant Pertex® Quantum ripstop shell that blocks wind and light precip. Responsibly sourced, 800-fill HyperDRY™ water-repellent down stays warm and lofty through mixed alpine conditions. The Pinion offers low-bulk comfort under a harness or over a button-up, and a self-stuffing pocket makes it a packable no-brainer in any season.

Azura® Insulated Jacket | $229

Stuff this ultra-compressible, lightweight, year-round insulator into your carry-on for travel missions or at the bottom of your pack for backcountry excursions. 60g of PrimaLoft® Gold Eco synthetic, 100% recycled insulation offers the ultimate in thermal efficiency: incredible warmth-to-weight ratio, breathability and softness that comforts in the nastiest conditions. A modern quilting pattern complements the 20 denier, 100% recycled nylon outer for subtle protection from wind and light precipitation. A fully adjustable hem with low-pro cord locks the wind out, elastic cuff bindings won't catch on any gear and interior/ exterior pockets store your essentials.

Azura® Insulated Vest | $179

Whether traversing a razor-edge ridgeline, hiking to a favorite sidecountry stash or layering up for a flight to your next escape, the Azura Vest offers the right dose of core warmth. It's technical, lightweight and filled with PrimaLoft® Gold Eco insulation, selected for its unrivaled warmth-to-weight ratio and 100% recycled materials. A low bulk factor makes it supremely packable, and the shell's soft hand makes it an ultra-comfortable favorite.

Dawner™ Hooded Jacket | $249

With mountain performance matched only by its go-all-day comfort, the Dawner is the ideal high-performance, low-profile insulator for chilly trail runs, late-season ski tours and any cold-weather pursuits that up your heart rate. The secret? An interior fully lined from hood to hand pockets with silky-soft Octa™ insulation. Constructed in a slightly raised diamond grid pattern that holds in heat while allowing sweat to evaporate, it feels soft on skin and slides smoothly over a tee or baselayer. For dynamic mobility, the durable stretch outer moves with you and allows sweat to escape, with a DWR finish that sheds light precip. It can compress into one of its own lined, zippered hand pockets for easy stashing in a running vest or summit pack.

Skycrest® Insulated Snap Shirt | $199

A shoulder-season layering staple, the Skycrest Snap Shirt is a multi-functional piece that provides grab-and-go warmth with distinctive style. Featuring a snap-front quilted design with a shirttail hem, and filled with soft, lightweight 60g Thermore® Ecodown® synthetic insulation, the Skycrest does double duty as an outer jacket or warm overshirt as temps shift between cool and cold. Packable and quick-drying, it's an easy piece to throw on for cool-weather hikes or throwing a few fly casts. Snap-button chest and hand pockets keep your small items secure.

Sweetwater™ Fleece Jacket | $159

If mountain life requires one thing from its devotees, it's adaptability—the savvy to be in the office one minute and on the trail the next. Warm, cozy layers should only add to the experience, and this season we refreshed our Sweetwater Jacket accordingly. This piece is crafted with the warmth and softness of the recycled sweater-knit fleece you've grown to love and a graceful fit, redesigned with more give for ease of movement. Now with a straightline hem instead of a droptail and a new zippered pocket on the upper arm to complement the cozy zippered hand pockets.

Stewards Of The Mountain Life

We are committed to using premium materials and quality construction to create durable goods that last.

Noah Wetzel

We live and love the mountain life, and we see ourselves as caretakers of the resources that provide it. That's why we are committed to a higher standard of business operations and have identified key areas of impact in which we pledge to benchmark, do better and report out on our progress. Though we haven't yet reached where we want to be and will keep striving to do better, we're proud to share our progress in these highlights from our third annual Stewardship Report.

Our Partners

We're proud to partner with these organizations in their missions to responsibly advance outdoor recreation and protect our wild surroundings:
